There's an exciting proposal in the offering for Virginia Cattlemen. An active group within the state is initiating plans for the development of a cattle feeding operation.

In 1972 a Feasibility study was conducted to determine whether a large scale feeding operation would be practical. Virginia exports thousands of feeder cattle and many bushels of corn each year. The study showed that it would require approximately 100,000 head annual capacity to make a feedlot operate successfully.

The plan at this time is to organize a cooperative or stock company that would own the feedlots and provide feed and services for the feeding of cattle on a custom basis. The initial plan is to build three to five lots with a 2,000 to 3,000 head capacity.

Feeder cattle producers will be receiving a questionnaire about participating in this program.

I would urge you to complete the questionnaire and return it immediately.

This past Monday a letter was mailed to everyone on our mailing list concerning certification for use of registered pesticides.

Although EPA has not released its listing of restricted pesticides, I would urge you to become certified in order to be able to purchase whatever pesticide that you may need.

Return the enclosed card. We will use this information for planning the training program this fall and winter.

The agricultural student enrollment at Virginia Tech is of interest to everyone in agri-business. In 1970 there were 1098 students enrolled in agriculture, in 1975 there were 2257 and this fall there will be 2900.

In the fall of 1974 VPI had the second largest increase in Ag. student enrollment in the U.S. and was the 13th largest enrollment in the U.S.

In 1975 VPI graduated 250 students in agriculture and in 1976 there will be 500 graduates.

The Animal Science Department had 130 students in 1970, but this fall there will be 470. It's interesting to note that 44% of these are women and 56% men.

REMEMBER - This Saturday 5:30 p.m. is the summer meeting of the Appomattox Cattlemen's Association.

SOME GOOD TOBACCO!

PINEVIEW HOME FOR THE AGED IS ASSET TO AREA

The Pineview Home for the Aged, located in Spout Spring is a real asset to our area. Built in September of 1965, the home is operated by Mrs. Marie Tyler who says that it was the happiest day of her life when she opened the home and began to care for others.

The original plans for Pineview were drawn by her husband, Benjamin Tyler, but since that time five rooms were added in 1968, the office was enlarged and then in 1970 and 1971 an addition of three more rooms was completed.

Pineview Home for the Aged now has 13 rooms and a total of 27 patients are cared for at all times - never any vacancies according to Mrs. Tyler.

Woodmen of the World Grove 6073 has adopted Pineview Home for the Aged as their community service project and members really enjoy their visits with Mrs. Tyler and with the patients.

PROUD OF HER LARGE TOMATO! You bet she is! Myrtle Ford, foster daughter of Mrs. Ora W. Smith of Pamplin, is shown above holding a two pound fourteen ounce tomato grown in the garden of Mrs. Smith from a plant she got at Baldwin's Plant House in Pamplin. Myrtle helps with the garden and always gathers the vegetables.

LITTLE THEATER NOW ORGANIZING IN CAMPBELL COUNTY

The Little Theater group now organizing in Campbell County will hold tryouts for the chorus and principle cast of its first production, "Annie Get Your Gun," Wednesday and Thursday, August 6 and 7. These auditions will be held at the Central United Methodist Church in Rustburg on Highway 501 between the hours of 7 p.m. and 10 p.m.

Those people interested in trying out for the cast of "Annie Get Your Gun" are asked to come prepared to sing a selection of their choice. The song does not have to be in the show.

This drama project is being sponsored by the Campbell County Recreation Department, Arts Council and is partially funded by a grant received from the Virginia Commission of Arts and Humanities.

"Annie Get Your Gun" will be directed and designed by Dr. Robert Hailey, head of the Drama Department at Lynchburg College.

Dr. Haily has many honors to his credit. He has directed over 68 plays, designing many of them. He is listed in Personalities of the South, Directory of American Scholars, and Who's Who in Virginia. He holds a Bachelor of Music Degree, a Master of Arts Degree, a Master of Fine Arts Degree, and a Doctorate Degree.

All those of high school age and over who are interested in music or drama are encouraged to come out for these auditions.

Anyone interested in working with this group in any capacity, sets, stage management, art work, costumes, makeup, etc. should come and sign up at one of the audition times or call the Campbell County Recreation Department.

A little foul weather never stops us from making repairs.

Heavens no.

Maybe we never face anything quite as earth-shaking as Noah's flood, but we do have to deal with some pretty rotten weather.

And when the lines are down, we're on the scene. No matter what the situation. Making repairs as quickly as possible. Getting the job done.

But bad weather is not the only time we work. On the contrary, we're working day in, day out. To keep you in touch. After all, service is what you depend on us for.

That's why even when it's raining cats and dogs, we're there. Because, frankly, it takes more than bad weather to dampen our spirit.

Another classic way your phone company comes through with service.

White Stores Plan Franchise For Appomattox

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller have just returned from the semi-annual merchandise show held at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel in Atlanta, Ga. July 14-16. During the show, the Millers joined the franchise organization of White Stores, Inc. and will locate their outlet in Appomattox, Va.

As new dealers, the Millers were part of a group who attended the meetings and presentations of merchandise lines for Christmas 1975 and the fall season. This year's show emphasized the new and exciting lines of giftware and housewares, and all the latest ideas from the toy world. White's has just expanded their giftware and housewares lines, and the toy lines are more complete than ever before.

During the show, the Millers received product sales training from company representatives and were counseled concerning credit, super service and advertising.

White's is a chain of stores with over six hundred franchises and one hundred and fifty company-owned outlets located in eighteen states spanning the Southwest and the southern seaboard.

Jordan News

We just ended a very successful week of revival services. Rev. Douglas Carter was evangelist for the week. It is our hopes and prayers that the spirit of this revival will continue on throughout the year.

On the fifth Sunday night (August 31) at 7:30 the following groups will be singing here: The Blue Ridge Trio, The Golden Echoes, The Gospel Harmonettes, and the Spritual Knight.

Remember to pray for our sick and shut-in.
